THE SHUTTER SPEED, set at one-hundredth of a second, was not quite fast enough to stop the action of two youngsters who saw some loose eggs and put forth determined efforts to stake their claims. Dozens of brilliantly tinted ovals, many of which were exchangeable for the chocolate variety, were looted while parents stood their pre-determined distances. No children were lost - stifling the suggested fears of those adults who annually invade the juvenile happy hunting ground located in Crescent Park.

Warren School Board Approves Salk Vaccine

Students in the first and second grades of Warren schools will receive inoculations of Salk vaccine for the prevention of Polio upon the request of the parents. The borough school board has stamped its approval on the plan sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and which they hope will irradiate the crippling disease. The first preventative inoculations will be given on April 21.

The members of the Warren board accepted a recommendation of the recreation committee of the Warren borough council that the board employ and pay the playground leaders for the summer activities. It is understood that the state will reimburse the board 68.93 percent of the costs and the borough council will assume the balance.

The board accepted a hospitalization plan for its employees which states that it will pay ten percent of the minimum monthly cost of $1.80 each. Upon approval of the plan, the insured will receive greater benefits.

Transportation contracts with Mrs. Louise Brown and Lawrence Jenkins were renewed. Receipts from the state of $146.25 for the January health program, $1,006.60 for February lunches, and $155,915.96 for the second half appropriations were acknowledged.

Approval was granted County Superintendent John Mallory's request that permanent record forms be furnished the eight districts of the joint board.

Mr. Newton was granted permission to attend, as a delegate of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, the national convention which will be held in Chicago, July 3-9. Dr. Carl Whipple was granted permission to attend the governor's conference on education which is being held in Harrisburg today and tomorrow.

The buildings and grounds committee suggested the inspection of the grounds be set for April 23, and that a new hot water heater and boiler be purchased for the South street school. The board accepted these recommendations.

Approval was granted a request by Lacy PTA for a wading pool at the school's playground providing no objections are forthcoming from the borough council. The board granted permission for use of the Lacy, South St., and Jefferson buildings for PTA's to hold ice cream socials on April 21, 28, and 29, respectively. Approval was granted for the Jaycees to use Jefferson auditorium for presenta-

Council Considers Three Paving Bids

The Warren borough council Monday night opened three paving bids for the first group of streets to be surfaced under the paving program. The low bid for cement paving was submitted by Keystone Construction Co., of Meadville, which quoted $110,196.

The Keystone was high in the blacktop and curbing bid with $137,856. Low bid for this type of paving was $119,506 submitted by Kebert Construction Co., of Meadville.

The Kebert firm was second low on cement paving with a bid of $126,275. Third was the Joseph McCormick Co., of Erie, with $129,026. This firm did not submit a bid on the blacktop paving.

Action on the bids will be taken at an adjourned session of council, April 25.

Council voted to go along with the major portions of the country which this year are extending daylight saving to October 30. It will start at midnight, April 30.

Council heard a request by the VFW, through its attorney, C. Henry Nicholson, for the conveyance of a piece of property west of the VFW building on Pennsylvania ave. The VFW wants the borough and the county to relinquish any right they might have to this property, which is half the width of the old right-of-way leading to the former suspension bridge. It was referred to the building and lands committee for study.

Councilman Africa reporting for a committee on the division of the Fifth Ward reported that the committee felt that such a division would result in too many councilmen. It recommended that the First, Second, and Third wards be made into Wards One and Two, the upper Fifth be made Ward Three, and part of the Sixth be added to Ward Nine.

A resolution was passed petitioning the court of quarter sessions to make necessary changes in the boundary of the wards mentioned to proportionately divide the population of the county within the borough of Warren. The resolution also included the report of the committee.

Council voted 13 to 2 to support the granting of a tag day license to the Warren Boy Choir. Burgess Rice will allow tag days on April 29 and 30 for this group.

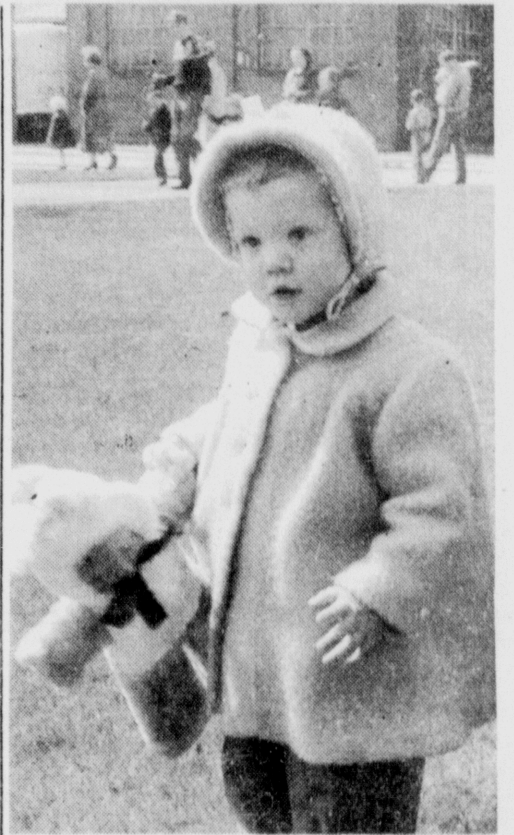

Council supported Councilman Frantz's resolution providing a $12.50 fee for hearings before the board of adjustment, involving special exceptions in the zoning law.

Councilman Carbon reported that the playgrounds would open officially on June 14.

tion of the award on April 19 in the Junior Citizenship competition.

Payments for the following were approved: Upon recommendation of the finance committee, $86,415.45 of which $53,000 is for the Jefferson rental; substitutes salaries of $520.25; janitors' overtime, $10.63; special services, $51.00; sinking fund - pay interest and retire bonds for original construction costs of Beaty, Lacy, Home St., McClintock, and Seneca schools - $30,330. Monthly orders of $2,859.05 and cafeteria costs totaling $6,030.87 were approved for payment.

Two kindergarten teachers, Miss Joanne Roberts and Mrs. Virginia Sundheimer, were employed for SECURELY CLUTCHING the grand prize, a huge rabbit, and looking a bit bewildered over her good fortune, Michell Kay Taraska posed for the photographer as parents began gathering up the excited youngsters for the homeward trek. No doubt, Michell was preparing her subconscious mind for pleasant Easter eve dreams of hidden baskets augmented by a cuddly Peter Cottontail as she snuggles beneath the covers.

NO PARENTS crossed the starting line at the annual egg hunt sponsored by employees of Sylva for their children. The babies, in this case one through three years of age, had the field all to themselves creating a minimum of disappointments. Even without adult intervention, the hunt lasted only a matter of seconds.

AHEAD OF THE PACK and surrounded by hen fruit, this fellow literally threw himself into the competition. He illustrated great perseverance and a degree of stick-to-itiveness that belied his young age.

SECOND LT. EMORY J. MAHAN. Emory John Mahan, a salesman for Dan's Chevrolet and a partner in Dan's Used Car Agency, has been promoted to Master Sergeant to Second Lieutenant in Company I, 112th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, and assigned to the Warren unit. Lt. Mahan was inducted in the armed forces in August, 1945, and served at Camp Croft, South Carolina, Fort Knox, Ky., and with the 72nd Constabulary Squadron in Germany. He was discharged in 1947 and was a member of the enlisted reserve corps until 1950 with assignment to the Air Force reserve at Greater Pittsburgh airport. He has been a member of Company I since April 19, 1954.

A budget of $916,100.01 was given preliminary attention. Even though the total exceeds the $878,963.40 document used as a financial basis for this year, it is expected that the millage will be continued at 21 and that the revenue will be augmented by $5 per capita and $5 residence taxes.

Easter Away From New York

COLEBROOK, Conn.

I have gone to extravagant lengths the last four or five years to avoid the Easter parade on Fifth Avenue. There are certain negative pleasures in life, the sheer enjoyment of not doing something, and one of my personal delights is not being anywhere that crush around St. Patrick's Cathedral Easter morning.

I have never understood what all those people are doing there or what exactly they think they are celebrating. They just like to get crushed, I guess. If you have a great mania for getting trampled on Easter Sunday, I suggest you try the Main Square in Dublin sometime. Easter in Dublin is only partly a religious holiday. It's also the anniversary of the Easter Rebellion of 1916 and, after church, all of Ireland turns out to watch the Irish Army parade down the main street. There are only 3,000,000 in Ireland, and by George, I counted all 3,000,000 of them right there. And hardly an Easter bonnet in the crowd and not a sign of Mr. John or a mention of Christian Dior.

It does seem like a long way to go to get away from Fifth Avenue, but actually I have gone farther than that. I remember one lovely Easter in Bruges, the beautiful city in Belgium which fell asleep in the Thirteenth century and hasn't awakened yet. I roamed the cobblestone streets along the ancient canals, inspecting the medieval churches and listening to the bells which seemed to ring all day long.

And last year I took a little excursion boat up the coast of the Italian Riviera to the little fishing village of Fan Fruttuosi, which can be approached only by sea. There's a Thirteenth century nunnery, now abandoned, there and hanging on the wall is a television set on which we watched Easter services in Milan.

Oh, the world just teems with places to spend Easter, none of them Fifth Avenue. This year, to get a little religious note into their Easter broadcasts for a change, the networks, I noticed, telecast the services from cathedrals at Cincinnati and Washington. Well, that's a fine idea, but I should think an even better one might be to shop around New England and find one of the little white churches with which all New England is dotted.

They're very simple and beautiful and the proportions of the windows and columns and steeple are matchless. They're also more American than any cathedral. This is not fundamentally a cathedral country. We went to a little church in Colebrook, no different from hundreds of others in New England, and listened to a sermon about heightening our apprehensions, delivered by a minister who had obviously been thoroughly steeped in Ralph Waldo Emerson. It was the most American Easter morning I've ever spent.

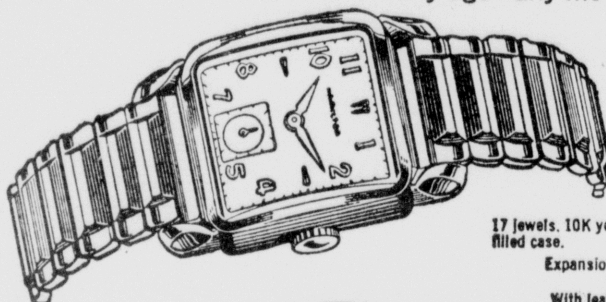

A few years ago television took such a lambasting for commercializing Easter that there have been great efforts to prevent repetition. Up here we're out of touch with television, but I left my operative X-1 behind to see that they behaved themselves and from her report apparently they did fairly well.

"Ben Grauer was on Fifth Avenue at Radio City and he'd grab people and talk to them," she reported. "No, I didn't hear any plugs for dress shops or milliners. I guess they've cut that out. And Arlene Francis was conducting a fashion show from the Cotillion Room of the Pierre. Have cocktail

"Well, its the end of Lent and lots of people fall off the wagon and naturally you have to be dressed for it. What else is on television?"

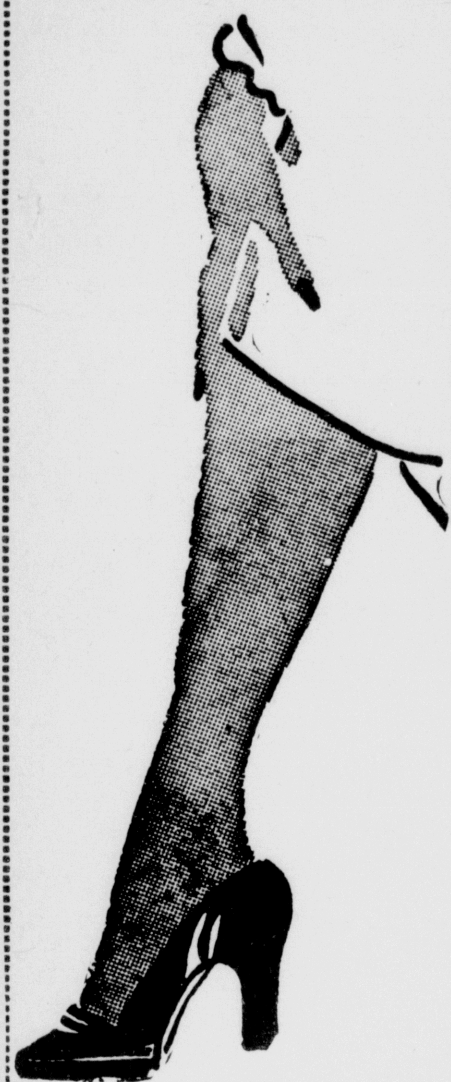

"Well, Tex and Jinx did something called 'Easter at the Waldorf,' a variety show for the Heart Fund. They had an NBC camera with an Easter bonnet on it. They had a fashion show, too, and one dress by Christian Dior was made out what they called, so help me God, Korean gauze. And somebody said of another dress, 'Here's the costume Mrs. Eisenhower would have worn if she'd been in Washington today.' "Y" CITY LEAGUE WINNER. The Style Shop quintet took both halves for undisputed possession of the city league without a playoff. The boys were never seriously challenged throughout the season. The members are: (left to right) ROW I: Dick Koebley, Hud Ber-dine, Bob Wolfe, Lou Hartweg, and Coach Mel Bines.

JEFFERSON GRA-Y WINNERS. These fellows copped first place in the Jefferson Gra-Y league under the leadership of Coach David Olson. According to reports, many teams in the league do not have adult supervision and therefore the boys are handicapped in competition. More adults are needed to give the young fellows a better opportunity.

THE "Y" SWIMMING TEAMS, a new sport for Warren borough, were much better than many expected. The varsity won seven contests while dropping nine against such groups as Jamestown, Meadville, and Oil City. Max Darone predicted that many of the boys, no doubt, beat the 1904 Olympic records -- he later explained that the 1904 swimmers were still using an underwater stroke and that speeds have increased measurably since the above-water strokes have been employed.

An Obvious Need for Warren at Easter time is an egg hunt for parents. Asked why he didn't get an egg, one little tot answered, "The big people got in my way." Sylvia has the right idea. It bars adults.

A Zoning Change for Fourth ave. in Warren may be due soon. And this one will have enough influence and local demand to have an excellent chance to succeed. However, it may not be as big a change as wanted by Loblaws. Just enough to provide parking facilities.

Two Over was the report at the end of the day Wednesday in the Warren Red Cross office. The blood donation goal was 150. The donors gave 152.

Warren's Police Department is finding competition in New York state for its officers. New York is employing many additional policemen and a few of the Warren boys have been giving the idea very serious thought. One already is gone. Two others have shown interest. But the home town advantages may influence them to stay on the local beat.

Legislative Briefs

They Aren't Legal? We have been under the impression that the operation of bingo games by charitable or non-profit groups was legal. But we note that there are at least three bills now in the Harrisburg hopper which would authorize licenses for such games. One would establish a games of chance commission.

We Don't Like the judicial sales bill 660 which would permit municipalities to hold sheriff sales without advertising the time, place, or date of sale, or the property to be sold. We are not so concerned about the loss of legal advertising revenue as we are about the potential quiet maneuvering that could be done under such a set-up.

Those Concerned about the high rate of accidents among young drivers will like House Bill 708. It would increase the age for the issuance of an operator's license or a permit to eighteen.

We Like This. House Bill 709 would make it necessary for a driver to take an examination if he were involved in an accident involving more than $100 worth of damage.

Lives Would Be Saved by House Bill 699 which would require railroads to place reflective materials on the sides of freight cars. Anyone familiar with accidents which have occurred on such crossings as the one near Kinzua will recognize the value of this one.

No! Not This! House Bill 719, would make it possible to jump per capita taxes to $15 per person for school purposes. Many a poor taxpayer with two or three dependents over twenty-one would be hit for sixty or seventy-five dollars just for flat school taxes before he got to the millage and other per capita levies. When are we going to tie a tag on this most unfair tax?

Sunday Bowling would be decided in each municipality and township by referendum under House Bill 752. Just why bowling differs from golf, or any other participation sport we don't quite fathom.

First And Second Graders To Get Salk Inoculations

Plans are nearing completion for the inoculating of Warren County's first and second graders, who have parental consent, with Salk vaccine for the prevention of crippling Polio. Doctors and nurses, under the direction of County Medical poised in readiness for the maximum of 1800 youngsters. Letters to the parents involved have been mailed with parents' consent slips which are to be returned to the schools before the inoculations begin on April 21. Many school boards have indicated their willingness to cooperate and the action will be centered in the county's schools where the children are congregated. The entire program is being sponsored and paid for by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis from funds accumulated during annual financial drives. The vaccine has recently been proclaimed safe and effective, after exhaustive tests.

Doctors who have generously offered their services include the following: R. H. Knapp, J. E. Thompson, T. H. Gettings, A. A. Grant, J. R. Sugerman, Q. A. McCune, A. F. Yerg, J. F. Crane, V. M. Track Opens

Warren and Youngsville high schools will open their track seasons, Tuesday, when they meet Corry on Beaty field. The location was changed when Corry found it impossible to complete its new field in time.

The Warren schedule is a full one, and has been revised a bit from the tentative one previously announced. After the opening triangular meet, the Dragons will have Titusville for company on April 22, then will go to Oil City on April 26, and will play host to Smethport and Port Allegany on April 29. Smethport was one of the two teams to edge Warren last year.

Warren will go to Jamestown on May 2, meet Union City at home on May 6, run in the Section Two meet on May 11, play host to Jamestown, the next day, May 12, and go to Meadville May 17.

The District Ten meet will be held in Erie, May 21. Warren will go to Union City, May 24, and if any of the boys qualify for the state meet they will be in State College May 28.

Adding Franklin to the list because of the Section Two meet, the Warren boys take on ten schools this spring in an ambitious schedule. If future scheduling continues at this pace it is hoped to avoid home and home meets. More teams will be met each spring and the home and home arrangement will be spread over the seasons, similar to football. In this way as on every year, by Coach Briggs' boys.

Hot Stove Registration

The next major step in preparation for Hot Stove baseball league play this summer will be the registration of those who want to be included on the rosters. In order to be eligible they must register April 18 and 19. The places were published in this paper last week.

A registration blank will be found on one of these pages. Cut it out, fill in the lines, get a parent's signature and be ready for Monday or Tuesday's registration. It will assure you a place on some team.

At this week's meeting of the Hot Stove league, registration and membership cards were distributed. Adult membership books also were given out and now are on sale. If you are not a sponsor but want to help this project, buy a membership.

President John Carbon also appointed a rules and by-laws committee which should have a set of regulations ready in time for the next session.

Quick Ones

Welcome Rain Has made safer the woodlands for Friday's big event. The trout season opens and some of the early week dryness has been reduced. It also might make the fish a bit more eager.

A Strong Team, if bolstered by college material this summer, may be representing Warren as the Warren Elks. Early try-outs suggest a bit of talent is available if it can be smoothed up and shaped into a baseball team.

Another Basketball Coach has been added to the Warren high school staff. Matt Hosie who handled the Northern Area team last winter will assist Joe Massa. Fred Bell will do football and track.

Warren's Golf Team probably will open against Jamestown on the Warren course, late in May. Details should be worked out this week.

Greens Fees Are Up on many area courses, according to early bird reports. And the membership prices also are climbing. A double purpose, no doubt. Keep down the play and bring up the income.

Tournament Trail

Harold Bjers moved into eleventh position on the Ten Pin board at Falconer last Sunday. He had 1168.

A squad of Warren boys may have a shot at Sam Munella's sweeps on the Falconer Bowldrome lanes, April 27.

Bradford's gusher tournament will be visited by Warren keglars in May.

This week end two Warren teams have their shot at the ABC melon. One team consists of Myer Pappalardo, Paul Coppola, Frank Gerardi, Pete Juliano, and Doc Giunta. The other has Louis Chimenti, John Clark, Frank Willard, Dave Fink, and Allen Johnson.

Early in May another Warren team will take in the ABC, consisting of Art Mikel, Sven Forslund, Don King, George and Cliff Biehls.

Unofficially we are told that the annual Warren Bowling association tournament was won by Angove's with 3025. They paid down to 2849, rolled by Link's. W. Lopez and A. Lord took the doubles with 1240, which went down to Freeborough and Loomis' 1148. Nummy Wooster won the singles with 704, and this event paid down to 586, rolled by R. Swanson.

Nummy Wooster also won the all events with 1938. This paid off as low as 1739, owned by H. Logan. Nummy did all right. Teamed with Harold Clepper, he also placed third in the doubles with 126. Soft stuff, says Num.

You take the ball in either hand,
And set those shoulders square,
Then glide a few steps forward
And toss it in the air.

You stamp your feet and wave
your hands
And pray for a good hit.
But when you open wide your eyes,
There stands that awful split.

What to do at this point
Is not for us to say.
But if you will be patient,
Those splits may go away.

And when they do, your happiness
Will take a little hop,
Until you throw another ball
And find you have a chop.

The answer to the game, of course,
Is a solid pocket hit.
Though this leads to disillusion
When you get a tap with it.

The moral may be tough to find
But it's not hard to see,
That you must have a shade of luck,
If a bowler you would be.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

Formosa Decision Is Yours

Most of us have a vague idea concerning what we believe should be done about the Formosa problem. Some believe we must take a firm stand at every point, no matter how small the point may be geographically. Others believe that at the very most we should help defend the main island and forget the ones that are close to the mainland.

The extremes run from those who say we should get out of Asia with our armed might and make friends with peaceful help, to those who believe we should go so far as to tell China it can't build airports on its own land.

We suspect that the average American doesn't go along with any of these thoughts. He feels we have conquered Japan and should maintain some kind of control over that nation. And he believes we should protect the Philippines. But he can't get himself worked up about a Kai-Shek who couldn't win when he had millions at his call on the mainland and now wants us to get him back there the hard way.

How Mr. Average American feels about this is important. Washington is very sensitive to your stronger wishes, and it is not easy to sell the citizens of this nation on war. It isn't enough for us to read the conclusions of national leaders and syndicated writers. It really is our own thinking that will decide this thing.

Perhaps we can simplify this decision. Do you as an individual feel that the islands off the China coast are sufficiently vital to our defense for you to risk your own life, and perhaps shed it, defending them? Would you send your son to give his life to defend them?

Would you sacrifice your life or the life of any member of your family to save Matsu? If you would not do that much, you do not believe they justify the use of our army and navy. The army and navy is not some intangible group you wave at the enemy. It is made up of your flesh and blood.

Keep Your Town Alive

An undercurrent of tugging and pulling for something to be done in Warren county in hopes of holding our own industrially is sensed by this reporter. It never erupts in full cry, but the demand is there and one day enough people may get together in some of our communities to accomplish something.

We have discussed the aspects of this problem in several issues. Last December we mentioned the advice that was available from the state, which has studied the mistakes made by many communities and the successes of others. From these studies it has come up with some good advice. To our knowledge not one community in Warren county has heeded this suggestion.

In case you have meant to do this but have forgotten where to write, the Bureau of Employment Security is your customer. Basically you will be told to form a community wide group, obtain facts about your community, learn the exact labor needs of your town, and plan a continuing fund that will work consistently at the job of keeping your community alive.

Some do this by inviting everyone in town to take part. In one community hundreds of members are paying five cents a week. In others a smaller group of business men are working together with individual investments that range from a hundred dollars a year to a thousand.

Figure what the income of fifty employees would be worth to your community and you will find the investment worthwhile. At $3,000 a year the earned income would be $150,000! And with men working in town, most of it would be spent at home. In addition there is the money spent by the plant, and the taxes obtained from it.

If you want to figure it in cold dollars, a few men working at home in a local plant are worth a major investment in time and money on the part of the com-

Not All Talk

The Observer wants you to know that it is fully prepared to play a major part in any effort of this kind which is made in Warren county communities. It prefers to be considered as a local business in each case and will cooperate in well founded, constructive plans.

There is much that the paper can do, such as obtaining facts for the information of inquiring industries. And if any group will work out a plan that is practical and makes sense, we are not adverse to investing in the future of Sheffield, Tidioute, Youngsville, or Warren. In fact, we already have.

New Comic

A new comic strip is due about April 18, which should be pleasing to golfers. With baseball and other sports well supplied with such strips, the large legion of golfers now will have their specialty done in make believe characters.

It will be known as Mac Divot, name of the home pro, and will deal with his son who has professional tour ambitions, and the boy's girl, who isn't warm to the idea of tailing a traveling competitor.

Lucy Repeated

The I Love Lucy shows of 1951 will be repeated this summer. This is the series which won much acclaim and probably was missed by the many who did not have TV in those days. It will be seen at six o'clock Sunday evening, starting this week end. WBEN will carry it in this section.

Plane To Cleveland

Area sport or theater followers who like to make quick trips to Cleveland for their favorite recreation now can make it by air from Jamestown. A plane goes over in the morning and returns in the evening. No traffic, no hustle, and a quick trip.

Good Music In Cleveland

Many area residents have visited Cleveland this week, and will continue to do so until Saturday when the Northern Ohio Opera Association winds up a week-long silver jubilee season. Many are visiting the matinee Saturday. A big share of the Met's major performers are appearing there for the series of top operas.

Touring Director

Walter Hendl, conductor of the Dallas Symphony and Chautauqua Symphony orchestras, will spend seven weeks as a co-conductor on the Symphony of the Air Tour, plus three weeks touring Australia previous to settling down at Chautauqua for his third season there this summer.

What Does Sullivan Have?

We have read much criticism of Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town. Crosby has roasted him, other critics have slapped his dead pan about, imitators have mimicked him so successfully that he has used them on this own program to get laughs.

He is typical of many leading TV figures who seem to be regularly panned by critics and the public. We often wonder how such programs rate so highly in polls taken to reveal the audiences enjoyed. Toast of the Town usually is up there with the leaders.

Another one for whom we seldom have heard a good word is Jackie Gleason. He is called coarse and vulgar by people with whom we converse. When it is suggested that this is a part of his act, they come back with the retort that he seems that way even when not doing the married couple skit.

Either the polls are loaded or this area is not an accurate measure. However, we believe the reason such unpopularity continues to enjoy choice time on the air and apparently many viewers, is that the personalities involved make up for their own lacks by producing good talent.

To counteract the general feeling against the poor emceeing of such as Sullivan must be a great ability to make contacts, scout out top acts, and arrange for the appearance of the best in the entertainment field. The man as a performer is inadequate, but as a producer of excellent night club entertainment for family consumption, he is a winner.

As for Gleason, it must be his supporting cast, as indicated by the awards recently handed out. One of the biggest beefs often heard about Gleason's program is that a bevy of girls come onto the stage at the opening, do a good act, then disappear behind the curtain while Gleason takes the bows. The girls disappear for a week.

Labor And Farmers May Join Hands

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON. -- Every so often signs of an economic-political movement pop into view. One has been going on quietly for some time now.

Its aim is to get farmers and industrial labor into a coalition for political action. As a matter of fact, this is another revival of a movement which has been the dream of political organizers for generations back.

Just now labor is working actively at it again, and Democrats are encouraging the coalition idea as another way to strengthen further the Democratic party's resurgence as manifested in successive elections for nearly two years. Every little bit helps for the 1956 national election test.

The time and conditions are peculiarly propitious. Farmers, for their part, are in a period of falling prices, which makes them susceptible to gestures of political aid.

Labor, on its part, is being constantly reminded by its leaders of continuing unemployment which, while not general or considerable, yet is an acute problem in concentrated distress areas such as coal and textiles. So labor, too, is on the lookout for allies.

Farm and labor discontent, reacting upon each group separately, was a factor in last November's Congressional and state elections, it is generally agreed, and to the advantage of Democrats, though it was spotty and not an across-the-board impulse. Such as it was, however, it gave an impetus to the farm-labor coalition campaign which, thus far, gets its initiative principally from labor and the Democrats.

The occasion and the issue and the men all came together recently for a public demonstration here to promote the coalition.

The issue, raised by Democrats, is an attempt to restore rigid price supports at 90 percent of parity on basic crops to replace the flexible price supports, voted by the 83rd Republican Congress, which go into effect for the 1955 crop year.

The opposition was public hearings by the House Agriculture Committee on a bill to repeal the flexible program and restore the 90 percent supports. One of the men in the picture was Walter Reuther, CIO president, who appeared personally before the committee to endorse this bill on behalf of his organization.

The other was Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D., N.C.), committee chairman, who performed his end of the Alphonse-Gaston act most graciously. He had a reprint of the Reuther statement made in pamphlet form, which also included statements endorsing his 90 percent-support bill submitted for the record by George Meaney, AFL president, and by the textile workers union, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, and communication workers.

For this pamphlet, the North Carolina Democrat supplied a preface signed by him in which he pointed out that this was the first time in his 20 years in Congress that the head of a national labor organization had appeared before the House committee to speak for farm legislation. Then he added that the Reuther statement was also "the best farm speech" he had heard in his 20 years in Congress.

This document now is being distributed by the CIO and AFL.

In other ways organized labor has been busy in recent months trying to establish cordial relations with farmers. For example, state CIO leaders appeared to testify for farm legislation before the House Agriculture Committee during the committee's tour last year when it held public hearings in various parts of the country. Likewise, the CIO has been putting on exhibits at county fairs, setting up a tent from which is distributed literature emphasizing the interdependence of farmer and labor and where also are handed out balloons for the boys and girls of farm families.

Whether farmers and city union members become clubby enough to coalesce effectively for political action only in times of adversity we may know better after next year's national election. We will, however, have a test of a sort in the field of legislation when the 90 percent of parity bill comes before the House after the current Easter recess. Then we can see how many urban members, who are in a minority, follow Walter Reuther's advice and vote with Rep. Cooley and the Democrats in the effort to upset the Administration farm program. A close vote is expected. City members could swing the balance.

The previous attempt to create a farm-labor coalition was back in 1949 at a rally in Des Moines sponsored by the Democrats. Representatives of city unions and farmers rose there, in turn, to declare how they needed one another. That movement, however, could not survive the 1952 Eisenhower landslide, which shook it to pieces.

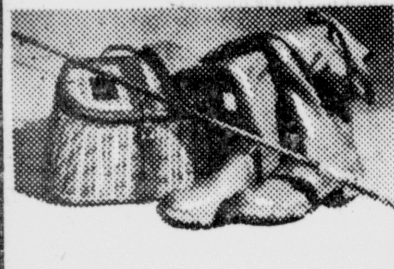

Now, the two groups -- farmer and labor -- are restive again and looking around for help and comfort.

Doan Changes Pill Claims

Several years ago we reported a complaint made by the Federal Trade Commission against the makers of Doan's Pills. The complaint said the pill-makers were claiming cures that were not so.

Today's advertisements are in great contrast. They say only that the pills will help relieve mild irritations.

Established names such as Doan's are handicapped more by such restrictions than the new quickies. They spring up with a magic formula, make a clean-up before authorities catch up with them, then agree to be good boys. They then can pop up with another cure and another name. Quite a merry-go-round.

More Insurance Complaints

The number of insurance companies now faced with federal complaints, which charge false advertising, is twenty-eight. Originally there were seventeen; then five more were listed.

The new ones are Educators Mutual Insurance, Lancaster, Pa.; Beneficial Standard Life Insurance Co., Los Angeles, Cal.; Firemen's Fund Indemnity Co., San Francisco, Cal.; National Casualty Co., Detroit, Mich.; Federal Life and Casualty Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Another Car Merger

All efforts to create a Big Four in the car business have flopped, due to a very good job of selling the Big Three idea by Chrysler, General Motors, and Ford. But the next step, if it is taken, may change that picture.

Talk has it that the Hudson and Nash combination will merge with the Packard and Studebaker combine. If they can bust the trade-in value ring with such a step, the Big Four will be a reality.

Where this leaves Kaiser-Frazer we are not sure, but all trade journals report that there has not been a Frazer car made this year.

Good News

The possibility of the Warren Industrial Development Corporation resuming its activities concerning the tangible encouragement of new industry for Warren, should be pleasing to most everyone in the area. We had intended to await the decision of the board when it meets tomorrow before saying anything but the local daily went all-out with a front page splash last week.

If the board approves the expenditure, about $12,000 might be checked out for land on the East Side. The interested plant would employ about eighty men at the start. The owners do not want publicity, for obvious reasons.

Small Plants The Trend

The news that a new plant employing eighty men may locate in Warren might not sound like a major operation, but by present standards it could be a fairly large operation. The practice today is to utilize mechanized methods for production. This means many smaller plants, each using less men than once was the case.

It should encourage small communities such as Sheffield, Tidioute, and Youngsville to actively work at finding new plants. All of them have manpower, land, water, and other facilities. A plant with a hundred men under its roof, using modern machinery, can represent a major industry today.

Too Much Assessment

Two state senate bills now in the hopper would do much to discourage industry from locating in Pennsylvania. They would add the value of machinery to the assessed valuation of a building. The average assessor today can't even evaluate a building. How lost would he be trying to estimate the cost of specialized machinery? There are better answers than this one.

A Good Buy

The Children's Aid Society of Western Pennsylvania writes us that one of its major problems is to obtain adequately trained workers. To help overcome this problem the Society is cooperating in an effort to find young people interested in a substantial Fellowship which can be granted for each of the two years of graduate training at the University of Pittsburgh. It is using the newspapers for this and sends us the following letter:

TO THE EDITOR:

Some young woman with roots and interests in Western Pennsylvania may be able to qualify for a substantial fellowship of $1,000, which is soon to be awarded by the School of Social Work at the University of Pittsburgh, for graduate professional study. It is hoped that several well-qualified persons, who want to practice in the field of child welfare in rural communities, will apply immediately for this fellowship. Successful completion of the first year of study may lead to a second year's award.

Social work is probably the fastest growing new profession for both men and women. If you are interested in a career of service and creative contribution to a better community life, here is a real opportunity. A baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university, a genuine interest in people, an emotional maturity, evidence of intellectual capacity to do graduate work, interest in social welfare problems, as well as a zest for living, are what it takes to make good. Substantial salaries are being paid to qualified social workers.

The Master of Social Work Degree is awarded after two years of successful graduate professional study, which includes two days a week in class and three days a week in field instruction in one or more of the School's cooperating agencies.

Anyone interested should write to me for further information and application forms. A personal interview will be necessary in due course.

Happy Landings

Tomorrow the anglers will be out there feeding the brook, rainbow, and brown trout. The season opens in Pennsylvania, and the early spring (if we still have it when this is read) should result in a record first day of stream lashing.

Those without pride but with a hunger for sweet trout will be dunking lush worms in the waters to entice a panful out of their native habitat. And those who relish the skill of handling a fly and the accomplishment of fooling a poor fish will flick the pools and riffles with their favorite flies, dry, wet, and home-make in between.

The wise fisherman will know where the good pools are and will fish them slowly and patiently. The ambitious one will walk the length of the stream. The determined one will find a fish if it means going to the head of the stream and hauling forth a few legal-sized specimen from the foot-wide source as it cuts through the meadows or woods high on the mountain.

Then there is the fellow who wants only a big one or nothing. He knows where the large browns are hiding out, either in a large pool or at the mouth of a stream as it empties into the river.

Forest fires have been threatening, and last week end the volunteer departments were doing a whirling dervish around Warren chasing grass smoke. Unless rain dampens the woodlands fishermen will have the added responsibility of protecting their favorite sport. No woods, no shelter, no water, no fish.

Preventing forest fires is not very complicated. It is easier than catching fish. Field strip your cigarette if you don't like fresh air and must fill your lungs with smoke. Tear off the paper and snuff out the ashes.

Don't toss any cigarettes or matches onto the ground. Snuff them and break them. Add insurance by stamping them into the dirt. Or toss them on the water.

If you must have a fire, keep it small and make sure it is out and saturated. The last man who should start a forest fire is a fisherman. The very nature of his sport provides adequate water for the dampest of precautions.

And just to keep you doubly legal, the game commission will send out its protectors to assist the fish wardens.

Thirteen Vie For J. C. Junior Citizen Award

Alexander C. Flick, Jr., president judge of Warren and Forest Counties, will have the honor of presenting the Junior Chamber of Commerce award to an outstanding junior citizen of Warren County in the Jefferson school auditorium on April 19. Thirteen young people have been nominated by religious, educational, or youth leaders for exemplary service to school, church, and community. From the nominees, the judges must select the particular one to be honored.

During the several weeks preceding the April 5 deadline, a committee composed of John Stachowiak, chairman, Tom Barratt, secretary, Joe Spence, publicity, and Dr. William Walters, selector of judges, has been accepting applications and three supporting letters from the nominators. Through the committee's efforts, many community leaders have recommended their favorites and have made the work of the judges more difficult and nearly impossible.

The nominees (not given in order of preference) and a brief summary of their qualifications are as follows:

In Brief

Sudden Death came to Max William Larsen, 67, of Akeley, who was struck by an automobile being operated by Theodore J. Moll, 20, of Russell, who was home from college for the Easter holidays. The accident occurred on Route 62, near the victim's home, at 9:20 p. m., Friday, April 8.

Mr. Larsen was reported to have been returning home after viewing television at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Clyde Arthur, and was struck by the northbound vehicle while he was walking on the right hand side of the road two feet into the traffic lane. A coroner's jury composed of Thomas Donnelly, Emory Mahan, Joe Guiffre, Wendell Peterson, Edward MacKendrick, and Bruce Jones has been empaneled but the convening date has not been announced.

A Tragic Drowning on Easter saddened the observance for members of the Bartek Sadley family and residents of the Saybrook area. Mr. Sadley was found by his son, Ed, in Tionesta creek at approximately 6 p. m. as the climax to a search conducted by members of the family after it was discovered that he was missing from a family reunion. It has been assumed that he slipped into the creek, at the rear of his home, where the depth was nearly twelve feet and drifted to a shallower place where the body was found. Use of the Borden resuscitator was employed but proved futile as death had claimed its victim some time before recovery of the body.

Articles Of Incorporation were formally signed at a meeting of the Starbrick Community Fire Department held Thursday evening, April 7, with approximately twenty members in attendance. Plans for the new hall are progressing rapidly and construction is already underway. Authorization for purchasing of materials was given the building committee.

Fire calls were announced as follows: Between 7 a. m. and 10 p. m. - Albaugh's Esso station, 8957-R-1 and between 10 p. m. and 7 a. m. - G. G. Greene's Starbrick plant, 2420.

Three Scouts Received Advancements at the month Board of Review held in the Warren Public Library on Thursday, April 7. Richard Aldrich, Post 1, Warren attained the rank of Life Scout; James Gough, Troop 13, North Warren, and Joseph Masci, Troop 6, Warren, became new Star Scouts. The reviewers were: Henry Powell, William Kunselman, Frank Seely, Joseph Acks, Ray Benson, and Harry Cooper.

Warren County Will Be Represented at the dinner in Washington, D. C., honoring Speaker of the House of Representatives Sam Rayburn, on April 16, by Michael R. Papavero, Warren County Democratic chairman, and M. E. Anderson, member of the State Democratic Committee. Mr. Papavero will be the guest of Matt McCloskey, treasurer of the National Democratic Committee, Joseph Barr, Democratic State chairman, and William Teefy, Mr. McCloskey's assistant.

Intensive Training of two weeks duration has been accomplished by Robert E. Clark, of Youngsville, who has been appointed to the position of head delinquent tax account investigator for the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue by Governor George M. Leader. The schooling is part of the new administration's policy of providing the best possible personnel for the state positions and is something new in Pennsylvania government.

A Quick Stop for a traffic light at the intersection of Pennsylvania ave. and Marion st., Warren, by Nellie Chappel Yates, E. Cleveland, Ohio, resulted in a minor accident at 12:27 p. m., Friday, April 8, when John Chimiel, 8 Swiss st., Warren, could not stop and hit the rear of the Yates' machine. A passenger in the first auto, William Yates, received a bump on the forehead and a strained back. Property damages were negligible.

Excessive Speed was the apparent cause of a one-car accident at the intersection of Conewango and Third avenues, Warren, at 2:35 a. m., Saturday, April 9. Don Carlton Norris, 112 Redwood st., Warren, according to borough police, drove to the extreme left of the street while traveling south on Conewango and struck a utility pole with his 1954 Buick causing $200 in estimated damages. Norris was arrested for operating a vehicle with illegal plates.

An Application For Re-entrance into the United States has been filed with Prothonotary Ralph Sires by Mrs. Bruno Zaffino. Mrs. Zaffino, an alien, plans to visit her relatives in France, leaving on July 4, and must receive written consent before she can return to Warren.

Teaching In Japan as an employee of the United States Air Force will be the profession for one year, at least, for Evelyn Hill, a resident of Warren who is now teaching in Sharon, if present plans materialize. Miss Hill has applied for a passport at the office of the Warren County Prothonotary.

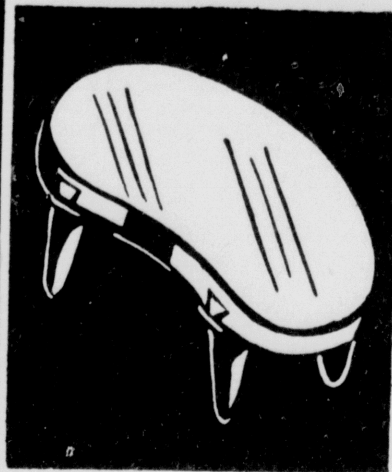

A Warren County First will be the house-to-house solicitations on behalf of the cancer drive which will be held in Youngsville the evening of April 19 under the direction of Donald E. Abraham, chairman, and with the cooperation of the Youngsville Kiwanis club. Previously, the cancer funds have been raised through the mails and by use of tag days but the response this year (only $2,000 to date) indicates that more strenuous action must be taken. Successful research in the prevention of Polio should spur interest in the struggle with "our most dreaded disease - cancer".

"New Ways In Family Living" is the theme of the spring week end which will be held at Pennsylvania State University on April 22 and 23 under the sponsorship of Mrs. Geraldine Johnston, extension home economist, associated with the Agricultural Extension Office of Warren County. All are invited to attend the conclave which will feature discussions, exhibits, demonstrations and informative movies with Ethel J. Alpenfels, anthropologist at New York University, and Grace K. Nadig, director of home economics at Temple University, as principal speakers. For reservations, call 2561 before Monday, April 18.

Safe Driving Pins and Cash bonuses were presented employees of William F. Crossett, Inc. who earned the recognitions during 1954. The company trucks petroleum products throughout United States and has its main offices in Warren and maintains terminals at Stoneham and Reno, Pa. as well as Tonawanda and Wellsville, N. Y. The awards were distributed to the employees of the Stoneham terminal at the semi-annual dinner and safety meeting held at the Blue and White Restaurant, Warren, on Monday, April 11. The recipients were Gordon Bennett, Charles Engard, Howard Carlson, Merle Lindsey, Paul Pring, Levi Carlson, William Prowitt, Elton Anderson, George Ellsworth, Carl Larson, Arthur Cummings, Dalton Sayers, Harold Simonsen, Robert Ploetz, Paul Davis, and Fred Meadows.

Two New Members were welcomed into the Newcomers' club at its regular meeting at Jackson Heights restaurant on April 7 which was under the direction of Mrs. Becky Powell. The new members, Mrs. Jean McMann and Mrs. Grace Springer, with the rest of the club heard William Fuelhart speak on "Civil Defense in the Warren Community."

One Was Killed and two were injured near Sugar Grove about 2:45 this morning when a car operated by Richard Peters, 22, of Pittsfield, R. D. 1, went out of control, traveled about three hundred feet along the left berm, another two hundred on the highway, and over a hundred feet of the right side.

Enroute it sheared off a telephone pole and came to a stop when it hit a large tree. Four passengers were locked in the car and were removed by members of the Sugar Grove fire department.

Killed was Joanne Hultman, 16, of Jamestown. Peters was admitted to the Warren General unconscious, and his condition today is described as serious. Sandra Brawdy, 16, of Jamestown, was treated for lacerations and abrasions and discharged. Kenneth Olson, 24, of Jamestown R. D. 6, was not injured.

The two girls had been picked up by the boys at a skating rink and two other boys had been taken to their homes in Wrightsville. They were on their way back to Jamestown when the accident occurred.

Dulles Takes Big Bite

By Doris Fleeson

WASHINGTON -- John Foster Dulles, who has sometimes demonstrated indifference to, or at least dependence of, public opinion, may have bitten off more than he can chew in his firing of Edward Corsi, the State Department's peddler of immigration.

The firing has attracted an unusual amount of criticism from liberals in both parties. If it had taken place while the Senate was in session, as it is not due to the Easter vacation, Secretary Dulles could have been the subject of most daily excoriations on the floor. As it is, several Senators have denounced Dulles' action, and many more may attack it when the Senate resumes.

Mr. Corsi, a liberal Republican who had campaigned for Dulles when he was a candidate for the Senate, was brought to Washington by Secretary Dulles as the man most able to make the immigration laws work. But Corsi is an outstanding opponent of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, which severely limits opportunities to immigrate to this country although the act ostensibly was designed to assist victims of Fascism.

Rep. Walter, whose name joins that of the late Senator McCarran in the immigration measure, a Democrat from Pennsylvania, lost little time in coming to the attack. He charged Corsi with various Communist associations, some of which he was forced to withdraw promptly. Yet Secretary Dulles, although a security check was incomplete, decided that it was the better part of valor to remove Corsi from the immigration job and create another apart from Rep. Walter's interests. This new job, that of scouting immigration possibilities in South America, Mr. Corsi is likely to turn down.

The bitter politics of the situation is that Mr. Corsi is an Italian-American, an entity only lately rising to political prominence. Italian immigrants have had to fight a language barrier which did not afflict the Irish, for instance. The Irish very early became powerful in American politics. It has only been recently that the Italians have begun to make up for lost time. Edward Corsi is among the most admired of Americans of Italian ancestry. There is little doubt that what happens to him will influence deeply other citizens of like origin. In some states the Italian-American vote is powerful indeed.

There is, in addition, the effect of Secretary Dulles' action on liberals. One of the first objections to Mr. Dulles' firing of Corsi came from Jacob K. Javits, Attorney General of New York, and as the only Republican holder of a state office there, the leader of the party in the state. Mr. Javits is precisely the kind of liberal that Mr. Corsi is, and his criticism of the Corsi firing will carry weight.

Secretary Dulles, who feels that most of his attention should be given to high policy rather than the day-to-day operations of the department, may soon find that in avoiding an argument with Rep. Walter over the appointment of Mr. Corsi he has involved himself in a political question of such intense heat that it may well influence the outcome of the elections in 1956.

EGG HUNT PROVIDES COMPETITION FOR CHILDREN AND ADULTS

TOTAL LOSS. Firemen from Glade volunteer department continued to pour hundreds of gallons of water on the remains of Herman Kylander's two story garage, Jackson st. extension, Warren, one-half hour after the major portion of the blaze was brought under control. Pleasant, North Warren, Warren departments and the Forestry emergency equipment also answered the call and were successful in prohibiting the spread of the flames to the large house which was less than twenty-five feet away. The loss of $2,000 was partially covered by insurance, according to the owner.

EMERGENCY VOLUNTEERS. It took very little coaxing to entice these youngsters to help put out the sparks that remained after the Kylander fire had been extinguished on Monday afternoon. The pile of debris still smoldered and the boys delighted in squirting death blows from the portable tanks.

PUSHED AND JOSTLED by adults who were twice his size, this young fellow showed his true feelings at the close of the mad scramble held in Crescent Park on Saturday afternoon. Korean Student O.K.'d By Joint School Committee

A request by the Warren student council that Jeong Hyop Shin, 16, of Seoul, Korea, be invited to Warren as an exchange student was granted the approval of the Warren Area Joint Committee at its meeting held Monday evening. If the plans materialize, the student will reside with County Commissioner and Mrs. William Olney in Glade township and attend Warren high school.

The committee approved a sabbatical leave for Miss Jean Spencer, Spanish and guidance instructor, during the 1955-56 term.

Substitutes salaries of $1,672.44; janitors' overtime of $301.51; and special services totaling $521.25 were approved.

An employees' hospitalization plan which would require the committee to pay ten percent of the minimum monthly premium of $1.80 was accepted. A notice that the lunch reimbursement for May will be pro-rated, probably one-half the usual amount, was read. Tom Barratt, assistant principal of Beaty junior high school, was commended for his article which appeared in a recent issue of the American School Board Journal.

Orders written during the month for $1,902.66 were approved. The attendance report of 94 percent was read with the comment that only three times since 1947 has the month of March varied from this figure. Grise Library bid for repairing and servicing the high school projectors was accepted.

Permissions were granted for the Wright Dance Studio to use the high school auditorium for a recital on June 7 and the Jaycees to use the Beaty parking lot for the Teen-Age Road-E-O on May 14.

Miss Phyllis Putnam was hired to teach high school physical education, Matthew Hosie for high school English and to help with basketball, and Miss Cora Earley was employed to teach music at Beaty. Resignations of Misses Ruth Pollock, English instructor at Beaty, and Mira Heerlein, high school homemaking teacher, were accepted.

REST ASSURED you will enjoy Donald Payton's play entitled "Rest Assured" which the Warren junior class will present on Thursday and Friday evenings, April 28 and 29, in the Warren high school auditorium.

Pete Sanden, John Sirianni, Regina Coppola, Maija Baumanis, Andrea Wright, and Rae Seely. David Douds and Jim Shafer were not present when the picture was taken.

The identity of one outstanding member of the cast is being withheld for later publication. The individual's picture is now in the possession of the OBSERVER and will be printed when released by Director Adair.
